<H&G6600> Higgins & Gage, Inc.

Priced Catalogue of Postal Stationery of the World, 1st Edition

Editor: Edward Fladung; but Alexander D. Gage holds the copyright.

Pasadena, California, U.S.A.: Higgins & Gage, Inc. Also listed under entries <FLAD6600> and <GAGE6600>.

1st ed., 1966: Section 3 -- Cameroons to Czechoslovakia, contains 3 pp. on Cuban postal stationery, ill., priced.

The catalog covers the main issues and major varieties of Cuban postal stationery which include postal cards, stamped envelopes, wrappers, and airmail envelopes and letter sheets. The Ascher worldwide postal stationery catalog <ASCH2500> was an important source of information for this catalog. The Higgins & Gage catalog's numbering system is the most widely used in the stamp trade in describing Cuban postal stationery of the Spanish Administration and the Republic, such as Scott's is for postage stamps and Forbin is for revenues. Postal stationery of the U.S. Administration, is usually described following the numbering systems of <UPSS7100> and <SCOTSPEC>. The catalog prices are currently grossly outdated and are only of value as an indication of the relative value of the items listed.

Editor: Edward Fladung; but Alexander D. Gage holds the copyright.

Pasadena, California, U.S.A.: Higgins & Gage, Inc. Also listed under entries <FLAD7400> and <GAGE7400>.

2nd ed., 1974: Section 3 -- Cameroons to Czechoslovakia, contains 8 pp. on Cuban postal stationery, ill., priced.

The 2nd edition of the catalog expands the treatment of the 1st edition to include numerous minor varieties; especially of the postal cards under the Spanish Administration. As in the first edition, the catalog prices are currently grossly outdated and are only of value as an indication of the relative value of the items listed.

Extensive article on the Puerto Príncipe surcharges. The article is based on information extracted from PO, MK, MF, AJP, CA (<CA89907>) and the extensive stock of the stamps in the possession of Mr. Senf. The article provides background information on the issue, gives details of their various printings, discusses resulting varieties, talks about their reported places of use and known postmarks, reports counterfeits of the surcharges and postmarks, discusses doubts as to the authenticity of the surcharged stamps, and provides a reference list of the known printings.

"Postal Issues of Cuba and Porto Rico, 1877-98"

SGMJ, Vol.22, No.259, 31 July 1914, pp.201-204 (4), ill.

The article starts with the first the first issue of stamps and post cards differentiating those intended for use in Cuba from those intended for use in Puerto Rico. Each year issue from 1877 to 1883 is described and discussed in detail from Cuba's point of view, including the design, engraver, denominations, colors, varieties (e.g., proofs, double impressions, plate varieties (especially in the 1883 overprinted issues), and usages (e.g., periods of use, rates, use of bisects). The article ends with the parenthetical note "To be continued." Unfortunately, World War I broke out and SGMJ ceased publication until October 1923 and the article was never continued. The article does not discuss the Puerto Rico issues. We do not know whether the Puerto Rico issues were intended to be discussed in the continuation article or articles. Overall, the presentation also seems a bit haphazard (e.g., not all post card issues are discussed and in some sections reference is made to revenue stamps used as postage which is out of the scope of the article).

Overview of the 1874 Treaty of Berne which created the General Postal Union that started governing international mail rates between participating countries on July 1, 1875, and was later modified by the 1878 Convention of Paris which changed the name of the General Postal Union to the "Universal Postal Union". Cuba and Puerto Rico entered the Union on May 1, 1877, with a single weight letter rate of 5 céntimos and a postal card rate of 2 céntimos. This article discusses the application of the provisions of the Treaty through the use of various examples. It is an essential reference for the student of Cuban postal history in understanding the rates and regulations that governed mail with members of the GPU/UPU after May 1, 1877.

Lots 2001-2005 (5) were pre-stamp covers, lots 2006-2098 (93) were issues of the Spanish Administration, lots 2099-2113 (15) were U.S. Administration issues, lots 2114-2138 were Republic issues, and lots 2139-2157 (19) were special delivery, postage due, postal stationery, and Spain used in Cuba.

Auction of a portion of the Samuel Israel Collection of Cuba and Puerto Rico which Mr. Israel donated to the Philatelic Foundation of New York (probably in the mid 1930's). Beyond the lots illustrated in the catalog, a photocopy of the entire portion of the collection sold at the auction was made by the Philatelic Foundation and is in their reference library. The Cuban material in this sale was from the Ignacio Prats collection (this entry is also listed as <PRAT0704>). However, with some possible exceptions, the material was not from his main collections but rather from his files of reference and secondary material. Lots #160-176, 201-202, and 208 were withdrawn since they were mistakenly taken from a stockbook of forgeries. This fact was noted by Prats and he promptly notified the auctioneer who withdrew the lots.

The Cuban material comprised a large holding of early issues including and a large collection of postal history with stampless covers, town cancels, incoming covers from other countries, foreign destinations, Correo Marítimo markings, British and French postal agencies in Cuba, and US Postal Administration in Cuba. Costa Mesa, CA: H.R. Harmer, GPN LLC; Sale #3000, 27-29 Oct 2011, Cuban lots #1166 to 1262, 1697 (98).

This was an extraordinary sale of Cuban covers from the U.S. Administration period (excluding Puerto Príncipe surcharges) with a handful of covers from the early Republic. Most of the covers bore either U.S. stamps used in Cuba or Scott Nos. 221-231, E1-E2, and J1-J4. Included in the mix were several U.S. Military Station covers and a sprinkling of postal stationery items. Among the rarest were a Military Station No.25 at Cristo cover, a couple of postal stationery envelopes with double overprints, and a rare used Scott U9 with knife #57 (one of two known used—the other one is in the Octavio Cabrera postal stationery collection). The sale ended with a handful of lots of accumulations of the same type of covers and postal stationery, including a complete set of 24 Scott U9S-U18S Specimen envelopes.

The International Postage Meter Stamp Catalog

Co-Author: Rick Stambaugh (also listed as <STAM0500>).

Goodyear, Arizona: Published by the authors, 2005, 1st Edition, 1216 pp., ill. Call Number: HE6239.M4 H39 2005, OCLC Number: m61502663. The 1st Edition was followed by a 2008 Supplement. Also available from WikiBooks at https://en.wikibooks.org/wiki/International_Postage_Meter_Stamp_Catalog The latter is the version referenced via this citation's link. See <BARF5300> for a precursor meter stamp catalog.

Citing from the introduction to the catalog from Wikibooks: "Postage meters first appeared experimentally at the end of the 19th century and came into general use worldwide starting in the 1920s. By the 1960s more mail was being franked by postage meter than with traditional adhesive stamps. The trend continues today as mechanical postage meters are displaced by newer and more versatile digital franking machines and systems.

This is a catalog of all the different types of postage meter stamps ever used to frank mail in the world. It organizes and categorizes the stamps by their appearance (design format) rather than the meter model that printed them. It is thus a STAMP catalog for use primarily by stamp collectors and is not a meter (machine) catalog."

The First Official Stamps in the World, 1854-1855

Stockholm, Sweden: Received from the author on 3 Sep 2009, 42 pp. Microsoft PowerPoint presentation, profusely illustrated.

This presentation is an overview of world's first stamps issued for the franking of official mail that Spain issued between 1854 and 1855. The presentation lists, describes and illustrates the Spanish "Correo Oficial" stamps and shows outstanding pieces and usages of these issues on cover. The use of these stamps was eventually extended to the Spanish colonies, by a Royal Order of 23 January 1857 that made their use mandatory effective 1 January 1858, and the presentation includes examples of their use in Cuba, Puerto Rico, Dominican Republic, and the Philippines. In particular, the Cuban examples shown are numerous and remarkable and include the set of these stamps printed by lithography in La Habana and known as the "Litografiados de La Habana" with numerous examples shown of these extremely rare usages on cover.

JCP, Vol.4, No.1, Issue No.11, Jan-Mar 2013, pp.8-9, ill., Eng. & Span.

Brief summary of the 1937 Seville-Camagüey flight, a historic flight that was part of a broader effort to strengthen ties between Spain and Latin America. The aircraft departed from Seville, Spain, reaching Camagüey, Cuba, symbolizing a new era in transatlantic aviation. To commemorate the anniversaries of this flight over the years, the Camagüey Philatelic Circle organized special cancellations that paid tribute to this pioneering journey, celebrated by collectors and aviation enthusiasts alike.

"Pan American Air Mail Promotional Test -- La Prueba Aérea de la Pan American"

JCP, Vol.4, No.1, Issue No.11, Jan-Mar 2013, p.14, ill., Eng. & Span.

Report of a promotion by Pan American in 1946 to advertise the U.S. reduction airmail rates for correspondence between the United States and countries in the Western Hemisphere to 10 cents per half ounce. Stamp collectors and other interested persons were invited to send covers to the Pan American offices in 28 Latin American and Caribbean countries using the new 10c. postal rate and the Pan American offices receiving the covers would label each cover with the phrase "Return to Addressee", pay the required return postage in each country, and deposit them at the corresponding local post offices to be sent back to the senders in the U.S., thus providing them with some very nice covers that were proof of the rapid development of commercial transportation in the Western Hemisphere during the postwar years. The article is illustrated with one such cover.

Telegraph & Telephone Stamps of the World - A Priced and Annotated Catalog

1982, Introduction and Acknowledgements on pp.vii, viii, and ix, Cuba on pp.81-88 (8); ill., Eng.

This catalog includes a complete listing of Cuban telegraph stamps only (no telephone stamps are included). Mint and used prices are quoted in British pounds. In the author's own words: "The prices I have given are those at which I would attempt to sell the stamps if I had spare copies for sale." An interesting note for collectors of revenue stamps are two notes by the author indicating that due to shortages in telegraph stamps in 1874 and 1889, the use of 1874 Libros de Comercio and 1889 Pagos al Estado revenue stamps was authorized in lieu of telegraph stamps. In neither case, however, were the stamps marked specifically for the telegraph use, so unless they are found with a telegraph cancellation or on a telegraph document itself, there is no way of identifying them as telegraphically used [I have no knowledge of the existence of any such examples]. The author does not provide a source for this information, but we assume that it appeared somewhere in government regulations or official bulletins.

Response to a previous Linn's "Errors, Freaks, and Oddities" column that illustrated an example of a Puerto Rican stamp with a double impression and asked readers for further information on the item. Responses were received from Cuban Philatelic Society of America members Alfredo Valdés and Mark Tyx explaining that the subject item was printer's waste, known as a "maculatura" in Spanish. Comments received from both correspondents explain how these maculaturas were created, state that these are known for various Spanish and Spanish colonies stamps printed by the Fábrica Nacional de Moneda y Timbre in Madrid, and give the opinion that these oddities should not command a high premium, except in the case of large blocks that are less common. The article illustrates an example of a Cuban Alfonso XII stamp maculatura with a double impression, one inverted with respect to the other.

"Cold War covers aimed at hearts and minds"

LINN, Vol.71, Issue 2656, 23 November 1998, p.6, ill.

The article references and illustrates a propaganda sticker and a handstamp used in 1959 by the Castro regime stating that the Cuban revolution was not communist but "humanist". The sticker reads in English "Our Revolution is NOT COMMUNIST. Our Revolution is HUMANIST. The Cubans only want the right to an education, the right to work, the right to eat without fear, the right to PEACE, JUSTICE, FREEDOM." and the handstamp reads in Spanish and English "In Cuba we are living happy now with humanism, no comunism", with "communism" misspelled.

"Photos to Cuba"

LINN, 31 May 1999, p.6, ill.

Section within an article titled "Who colored the flag on Iwo Jima stamp?"

Follow-up to <HOTC9805> where the author speculates on the meaning of a marking on the cover front reading "Refused-Prohibited entry by Cuba Postal Authority" and wonders whether the cause was an indication on the bottom left corner of the cover reading "Contiene fotos" (Contains photos). The article includes the opinion of Mark

Piper, a student of the mails between the United States and Cuba, who speculates that the marking was applied by an overzealous U.S. post office erroneously enforcing the embargo of trade with Cuba which did not cover photos unless they were of a commercial nature. The article is a follow-up to a previous article in the May 11, 1998, issue of Linn's where the cover was featured requesting an explanation for the "Refused" marking; the request to which Mr. Piper responded.

"Hospital pushed hard for a Clara Maass stamp"

LINN, Vol.75, Issue 3850, 12 August 2002, p.6, ill.

Article on the unsuccessful campaign the Lutheran Memorial Hospital of Newark, New Jersey, conducted in 1950 to get a U.S. stamp to mark the 50th anniversary of the death of Clara Maass in 1951. The article mentions the fact that Cuba did issue a commemorative stamp for the occasion (Scott 462), whereas the U.S. did not issue one until the 75th anniversary of her death. The article also mentions the interesting fact that the design used for the Cuban stamp has a strong resemblance to the cachet of a commemorative envelope that the Lutheran Memorial Hospital produced as part of its campaign for the U.S. stamp in 1950. This suggests that the Cuban design was probably derived from the cachet or similar propaganda materials produced by the hospital.

El autor reproduce la respuesta dada por Mr. W. E. Warner a la interrogante sobre el significado de la letra Y en los sellos cubanos sobrecargados entre 1855 y 1857. Warner indica que la sobrecarga Y ¼ responde al establecimiento del servicio de correo interior en La Habana y a la tasa fijada en ¼ de real para cartas y paquetes. A juicio de Warner utilizar la letra "I" hubiese podido ser mal interpretada como 1 ¼ de real.

North Atlantic Mail Sailings 1840-75

Co-Author: Richard F. Winter (also listed as <WINT8800>).

Published by the U.S. Philatelic Classics Society, Inc., Canton, Ohio, 1988. ISBN 0-9503548-4-0. 419 pp. ill. The book is a thorough compilation of sailing lists for all the ocean contract mail steamship lines operating on the North Atlantic from 1840 to 1875. Each chapter of the book concentrates on a contract mail steamship line, provides a historical background of each line, and lists the departure and arrival dates in chronological order of each leg of all round trips made by the ships operated by the line together with the name of the ship. Additionally, known irregularities or deviations from regular operations are noted for many of the listed trips. The book is an invaluable reference for identifying any mail from or to Cuba traveling on one of the listed contract mail steamship lines during the period covered by the book.

"Cuban International Airs, 1931"

AMC, Vol.4, No.6, WNo.42, Apr 1932, pp.203-206 (4).

Con el contrato firmado con la Pan American en octubre de 1930, Cuba pasaría a integrarse como parte en los circuitos FAM 4, FAM 5 y FAM 6. Para el franqueo de las cartas enviadas desde Cuba, se necesitaban sellos de correo aéreo que cubrieran las tarifas a los diversos destinos. Inicialmente se pensó en la sobrecarga de sellos existentes, pero no fue necesario porque en febrero de 1931 estuvieron disponibles los sellos permanentes (Scott C4/C11). En el artículo se describen los detalles de la impresión de la serie.

"Cuban Inland Airs, 1931"

WPG, Vol.18, No.11, WNo.604, 3 June 1933, pp.342-343 (2)

Article on the stamps designated for use upon inauguration of domestic airmail service between Habana and Santiago de Cuba on October 30th and 31th, 1930, east and west respectively. Since there were no 10c airmail stamps to cover the 10c rate established for letters, a Presidential Decree ordered the surcharging of Scott 283 for use as a 10c airmail stamp resulting in Scott C3. Subsequently another Presidential Decree ordered the production of 10c, 20c, and 50c domestic airmail stamps, Scott C13, C14, and C15 to frank domestic airmail letters. Eventually, the single weight air letter rate was reduced to 5c resulting in the production of Scott C12.
