“Auxiliary Markings on a Censored Cover Help Decipher its Routing.”

“Marcas Auxiliares en un Sobre Censurado Ayudan a Descifrar su Trayectoria.”

Co-Author: Ernesto Cuesta (also listed as <CUES2304d>).

JCP, Vol.14, No.2, Issue 52, Apr-Jun 2023, pp.24-26 (3), ill., Eng. & Span.

Description of the postal markings, including several auxiliary markings, on a World War II censored cover initially mailed from England to Lisbon, Portugal, and from there rerouted to Havana, Cuba, in search of the addressee who had apparently moved to Cuba. The cover arrived in Havana with no other additional information than the name of the addressee and was thus placed on a post office list of undeliverable mail for about 30 days to see if the addressee would by chance see it in the post office list and claim it. Since the letter was not claimed, after 30 days it was returned to the sender in England. This trajectory is deduced from the multiple postal and auxiliary markings on the cover.
